Carex Working Group is pleased to offer a workshop on sedge identification on July 19 and 20. This two-day workshop will emphasize Carex sedges of Central Oregon. The first day will be spent in the lab learning sedge morphology and terminology and keying fresh and dried material. Participants are encouraged to bring their own sedges to work on. The second day will be spent in the field and will emphasize field identification and ecology of sedges.

This workshop will be useful for resource managers, wetland consultants, natural area managers, restoration planners, and anyone who wants to cultivate an irrational passion for the less showy plant groups. Workshop participants should have basic plant identification skills, though we will begin at the beginning for sedges themselves.

Workshop Materials

Keys: We will supply the latest CWG key to PNW sedges.

Other items to bring:

- 10x hand lens
- Dissecting tools (forceps, needle probe) if you have them
- Notebook
- Floras and sedge identification resources (optional)
- Appropriate field clothing: hat, raingear, etc.
- Local sedges from your home area, to identify in the lab
- Sack lunches (restaurants are available near COCC for the 1st day)
