

Grass Identification Workshop

Date: June 11-12, 2014

Time: 9:00 a.m. both days

Location: Portland State University
Science Building 1 (SB1), room 424
Portland, Oregon 97207

(The building is located between SW 10th and SW 11th Avenues, with the main entrance on Mill Street. See campus map: <http://www.pdx.edu/campus-map>)

Cost: $275

Instructors: Dr. Barbara Wilson, Dick Brainerd, and Nick Otting

Carex Working Group is pleased to offer a workshop on grass identification on June 11 and 12. This two-day workshop will emphasize grasses of the Willamette Valley and southwest Washington. The first day will be spent in the lab learning grass morphology and terminology and keying fresh and dried material. Participants are encouraged to bring their own grasses to work on. The second day will be spent in the field and will emphasize field identification and ecology of grasses.

This workshop will be useful for resource managers, wetland consultants, natural area managers, restoration planners, and anyone who wants to cultivate an irrational passion for the less showy plant groups. Workshop participants should have basic plant identification skills.

Workshop Materials

Keys: We will supply the latest CWG key to PNW grasses

Other items to bring:

- 10x hand lens
- Dissecting tools (forceps, needle probe) if you have them
- Notebook
- Floras and grass identification resources (optional)
- Appropriate field clothing: hat, raingear, etc.
- Local grasses from your home area, to identify in the lab
- Sack lunches (restaurants are available near PSU for the 1st day)

Dissecting microscopes and a limited quantity of dissecting tools will be provided.

This class is now full.
